Business Summary

This west of Ireland business was founded in 2006 and has established a strong reputation for designing innovative medical device manufacturing and test equipment solutions. The business employs four highly qualified and experienced design engineers and has built up an impressive list of blue chip medical device manufacturing customers.

The business owner is a talented and passionate engineer but the current operating structure, personnel resources and distribution network are insufficient to take advantage of the opportunities in the marketplace. The business has a portfolio of eleven fully designed manufacturing and test equipment products which a new owner of the business can immediately start marketing.
